

Supervisors okay insurance contract

BY TRACI BONNEY

The board of supervisors officially approved a comprehensive county insurance contract Tuesday.

The board had verbally assented to the contract June 25 at a workshop, after speaking with Harold White, a representative of Sedgwick James (the service company that is handling the insurance and recruiting counties into the pool). With a 4-0 vote Tuesday (Alton "Dolph" Keller was in Jackson), the board approved the contract.

The State Association of Supervisors had announced by letter the formation of a Mississippi Counties Property and Liability Self Insurance Pool (MCPLSIP). The insurance covers just about everything the county may own, except for boats 26 feet or larger, or boiler machinery, as well as all public officials and other county employees.

The package provides an initial liability limit of $500,000, with an increase to a $1 million limit (at no added cost to the county) when the pool reaches the appropriate written premium level.

White explained that the policy covers anyone and anything the county includes in its policy — buildings, vehicles, office equipment, other property, and employees — in cases where sovereign immunity (county protection from lawsuits) does not apply.

According to White, the estimated cost to the county will be $17,420 for the July-October per-

Holiday getaways

Independence Day travel tips offered

BY TRACI BONNEY

Although there won't be any local roadblocks to hinder motorists' holiday fun this weekend, extra law enforcement officers will be on duty to protect and monitor.

All three local law chiefs said they will have extra personnel on the streets and extra patrol cars on duty. Bay St. Louis police chief Frank McNeil also said extra personnel will patrol the OLG Crab Fest and the St. Rose de Lima Seafood Extravaganza this weekend.

The officers will be performing all their usual duties, including checking for switched and expired vehicle tags, as well as suspended and expired drivers licenses. The Highway Patrol also will have extra personnel patrolling the state's highways.

Fines for license and tag violations vary, and are determined by the judge hearing each case.

For those who plan to be on the road for the holiday weekend, here are a few tips: —Make sure your tag, license and inspection sticker are up-to-date.

—Check your vehicle before starting on a long trip. Pay special attention to the lights, tires, brakes, oil and water. If the car needs work, have it done before you leave.

—Take a calling card or a quarter with you, in case you need to make an emergency call, and have money, a credit card or traveler's check available in case of a breakdown or other mishap.

—If your trip is a long one, let someone at your destination

Annual food, fun fair starts July 4 weekend

BY TRACI BONNEY

Get out your crableg crackers and head for the beach. Crab Festival 1992 starts tomorrow with several special events.

Crabs — of both the live and cooked varieties — will be in abundance, as will food and activities of all types at the eighth annual event. The food offerings include boiled and fried seafood, crab specialties, cajun cooking, barbecue, Oriental food, New Orleans cuisine, those favorite American picnic foods — hamburgers and hot dogs, cotton candy, desserts, cakes, snowballs.

popcorn and drinks. The live crabs will be not in the food area — no, the festival operators don't expect you to

Children's art fair featured at St. Rose festival

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

St. Rose de Lima School will hold a children's art fair in conjunction with the St. Rose de Lima Fair and Seafood Extravaganza this weekend, according to coordinator Vera Mestayer.

The children's event will be July 4 and 5 on the school grounds. Its theme is "Two-By-Two," derived from the biblical story of Noah's Ark. Activities will include face-painting, T-shirt painting, storytelling, sculpting, balloon animals, the Bayou Town Puppet show, displays of children's art and other events guaranteed to delight the younger set.

Artist Scott Hanson of Minnesota helped to prepare the lawn art which now adorns the school yard. Hanson, in Bay St. Louis for a week-long vacation, was recruited by Mestayer.

Pearlington shoot-out leaves one man injured

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A Waveland man, who accompanied friends to Pearlington Tuesday night, is in stable condition at Hancock Medical Center after receiving injuries from a shot gun blast during an argument over a girl, reported Sheriff's Investigator Matt Karl.

Karl said, "David Dailey, 19, accompanied James Singleton, 20, Stacy Coe, 18, and Evlice Hendy, 19, all of Waveland, to Pearlington Tuesday evening.

"According to witnesses, they met with over a dozen young men. Here Singleton and a juvenile began to fight about a girl.

Waveland men's vehicle riddled with bullets.

Someone grabbed a shot gun and started firing at the Waveland men."

He continued, "We received a call that someone was shot at approximately midnight. Dailey was hit, receiving three wounds to the chest and a couple to the arm. We believe he was injured on the second or third firing of the gun, as others with him made it back into the car."

Karl said Pearlington residents arrested were: a juvenile, charged with parole violation, presently being held without holiday, he pitched in with enthusiasm. "I'm happy to help," he said. "I teach art back home to students in kindergarten through 12th grade." Hanson conceived the idea of using styrofoam cutouts in the shape of animals. They are constructed of builder's insulating board, which is inexpensive, easy to work with and is safe for the children. While adults handled all of the cutting work, the painting will be left to the kids.

Vicksburg battle re-enactment scheduled for July 4 weekend

The roar of cannons and the smell of gunpowder will fill the air on Independence Day weekend in Vicksburg when men in gray and in blue clash in battle in a re-enactment of the final days of the 1863 Siege of Vicksburg.

The re-enactment will feature hundreds of soldiers and a variety of activities on July 4, 5 and 6.

The battle and camp site is located about 11 miles south of Vicksburg off Hwy. 61. Signs on the highway will give directions. Ample free parking is available at the site. Admission to the re-enactment each day will be $2 for adults and $1 for children ages 6-12.

For more information, call the Vicksburg Convention and Visitors Bureau at 636-9421, or (800) 221-3536.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Did you know many dollars that could be spent in Hancock County are being spent elsewhere?

One reason is, retirees who receive checks on a Saturday, are unable to cash them on that day. If these people need food and have no other money, they have to travel out of town to get checks cashed, according to a local resident. He reported trying several places last Saturday before having to drive to Slidell.

It seems there should be arrangements made to help these people to cash checks on Saturday. Many do not like to travel great distances.

Whenever a person has to leave town to have a check cashed, he ends up spending money out of the county for things such as food, clothing, entertainment, etc.

Maybe, someone could come up with a way to help these retirees.

Every community needs to have every dollar possible spent in it.

The July Fourth weekend is here once again and many activities are underway in the area.

The Our Lady of the Gulf Annual Crab Festival and St. Rose de Lima Fair and Seafood Extravaganza are all ready to go and many of the foods have been purchased and waiting for visitors.

Members of both parishes have been busy in recent weeks preparing the grounds, tables and tents, getting everything ready.

I understand a record number of arts and crafts vendors will be at the OLG Festival this year. The numerous shade trees surely help with the booths.

Seafood, prepared in just about every way, will be featured at the Crab Festival in addition to traditional foods and some specials.

The grounds will be open from 11 a.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

An added attraction this year will be the Blessing of the Fleet on Saturday at 11 a.m. The blessing will take place from the St. Stanislaus pier, so bystanders will have a very good view from Beach Boulevard.

Live entertainment will be provided on Friday night by Joe Mathern & the Southern Band; Saturday, Keith Hoda & The Country Sounds; and Sunday, Nightfall band. Sunday will feature the Piney Wood Cloggers at 4:30 p.m.

Saturday night at 7 will be a Twilight Run, sponsored by the Gulf Coast Running Club.

Fireworks are scheduled for 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights.

OLG doesn't forget about the kids at the festival as there is a section just for them. Children can find many things to do at Kiddie Land.

The St. Rose event is a Family Affair, as it is a homecoming celebration for many parishioners.

Live entertainment will featured by the most popular Bo and Dee on Saturday at 8 p.m.; the Brothers-in-Law Friday at 7 p.m. and Bad Habit at 9 p.m.; and Sunday, the AZE band, 8 p.m. at St. Rose.

A special event this year for St. Rose will be a "Children's Hands-On Art and music Workshop" featuring local singer/songwriter/children's author Cherie Schadler, who will conduct a puppet-making workshop.

Another feature will be t-shirt painting with a theme of Noah's Ark.

Steve Shepard, children's author and illustrator, will be featured on Sunday and there will also be many more things for the kids.

All types of seafood, hamburgers, po-boys, etc. will be offered at the St. Rose Extravaganza.

Festivities get underway at 11 a.m. on Friday with seafood in the cafeteria; special delivery is available by calling 467-7347.

Saturday and Sunday starts with tennis and softball tournaments at 9 a.m.

I hope to see you at the Crab Festival, Beach Boulevard next to Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church and at the Seafood Extravaganza, Necaise Avenue across from St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, Bay St. Louis.

Fishermen do not want to forget the Annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo which begins today with scales opening at 9 a.m.

The headquarters for the fishing rodeo is Rice Pavilion, Gulfport. Fresh and saltwater categories are included.

Participants need to pre-register at no cost to enter the rodeo which has some big prizes.

Fish will be on display from this morning until Sunday evening with the awarding of daily prizes at 6 p.m. and final prizes at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday.

The awarding of daily prizes will be at 8 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Live entertainment will also be featured at the rodeo each night.

The rodeo closes at midnight on Sunday.

I wish all fishermen the best of luck.

Safety first on the Fourth

Many activities are planned by families on this Fourth of July weekend, and safety should be an important consideration.

Many will take to the water for outings. Please make sure your craft has all of the required U.S. Coast Guard safety devices. Waterways will be filled with boats.

A number of folks will be traveling to visit friends and relatives, and our highways and roadways will be overflowing with traffic.

Remember, drinking while driving or operating a boat are serious violations. Many tragic accidents are the result of careless actions of alcohol-impaired drivers.

It's quite simple. If you drink, please leave the driving or boat operation to someone who is sober. If a friend or relative has had too much to drink, step in and take his keys.

To each of you, we wish a fun-filled and safe holiday.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

M/E/C

Public works not only responsibility of supervisors

Almost four years ago, the people of Mississippi had the opportunity to make their feelings known on an issue which had been simmering in the political stewpot for decades—the way county boards of supervisors built and maintained county roads and bridges.

When the time finally came for a vote on the county unit system, voters in 46 counties chose to move out from under the outdated beat system of county government.

Those who supported county unit also committed to a 6-year trial period. Now, less than halfway through that trial period, commitments are being broken and the politics of a bygone era are rising again.

The Mississippi Legislature in 1992 chose to allow voters who approved the county unit system in 1988 to return to the beat system in balloting this fall. This is being hailed by many as evidence that the Legislature listens to the will of the people. More likely, it is evidence that the voices of a select few are being heard—the supervisors themselves.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

McDonald commended for lauding achievements of blacks

To the Editor:

Congratulations, Sea Coast Echo, on your 100 years!

Many of the articles in the Centennial Edition were informative and educational. I especially enjoyed reading Dave McDonald's "Life in the '30s." It was not only informative, but very inspiring to my granddaughter, Kim, and me.

As we read the paper, Kim continually asked me if she would read about any black residents who excelled during the 100-year period. I showed her Mrs. Hawkins and baby (1965) and the coloreds brought back to Hancock County jail from Gulfport (1905).

However, as a 10-year-old curious child, she wanted to read about notable achievements of her race because she had been told that her great-grandparents had four sons in World War II at the same time, her great-uncle was a renowned artist/sculptor, her grandfather was chief of police, etc.

We were both elated when she read in Dave's article about successful and hard-working black men who, with their building acumen, were instrumental in providing him educational experiences in the construction business.

Thank you, Dave! You not only provided Kim with stimulating information, you also aroused her curiosity. She has decided to interview our family and other families of the gentlemen you wrote about. She plans to write a research paper on their achievements.

I asked Kim's parents to encourage her in this worthwhile project. It will keep her busy while I am "child-sitting" her this summer.

Ticketed motorist deserved the fine

To the Editor:

The most asinine letter yet was from John Reynolds from New Orleans—Pass Christian.

He was shocked that he got a ticket for breaking the law—unbelievable.

Anyone who drives or owns a car surely knows that he must have valid license plates or face a fine.

He was lucky it only cost $66.50, and I'm sure his mouth was running full blast at the officers who were doing their job and enforcing the law.

I'm wondering why he wasn't ticketed in New Orleans months ago.

Centennial edition overlooked Kiln sawmill, turpentine industry

Dear Editor:

Your Centennial Edition was fascinating as far as it went, but it only scratched the surface of Hancock County's illustrious past.

I was spellbound by the generous coverage of Logtown and kept hoping that the old Hinds' saw mill in the Kiln would receive equal treatment. My memories of the mill are vague, and I'm sure that the Echo recorded many interesting stories of the old mill.

I was four years old when it left town and watched from my back yard as the last train slowly passed, picking up its railroad tracks behind it.

It left a vacuum that was rapidly filled by the moonshine industry. I bet the Echo archives are bursting with captivating stories of raids by revenue officers.

I recall their cars passing through town with whiskey stills strapped to their front and rear bumpers.

You failed to mention the turpentine industry which occupied an important place in the history of Hancock County.

Charcoal, which was manufactured in kilns was so important, it gave the town of Kiln its name. At the turn of the century my grandfather sailed his schooners to New Orleans loaded with charcoal.

Oh well! Maybe I am being too critical. After all, this is not the birthday of Hancock County. It's the birthday of the Echo. Happy birthday, Echo!

Sincerely,
Nicholas Haas Jr.

Should the sale of fireworks be banned?

"No, I don't feel they should be banned. What would the 4th of July be without fireworks? If they are to restrict anything it should be the size of the firecrackers."

Suzanne Smith
Bay St. Louis

"No, they should not be banned. They are for entertainment and they are not very dangerous as long as the use of the fireworks is correctly supervised."

John Costanza
Slidell

"No. They should not."

Daniel Lee
Gulfport

"Yes, it's dangerous. Any age can buy them and there is no supervision. Around here there haven't been too many injuries, but injuries can be caused through their use."

Gene Strief
Kiln

"I think sales should be banned to kids, say anyone under 18. For the younger ones there is usually no supervision."

Carol Lawson
Bay St. Louis

"Probably so. I think too many small children get injured by them. The children don't have the proper supervision and they don't know how to use them."

Desecration of graves

Two of the older tombs in the Bay St. Louis Cedar Rest Cemetery were found open Wednesday, appearing to be the work of vandals. The tomb pictured above was dated 1852. The other tomb was more severely caved in exposing the remains of two bodies. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran) know when you leave and what route you're taking. That will give those expecting you an estimated arrival time and information in case they need to call the authorities if you don't arrive on time.

If you are traveling with another licensed driver, take turns at the wheel.

Make sure you have basic road emergency necessities: a spare tire and jack and/or "Fix-A-Flat" or other tire repair substance; functioning hazard lights; a white cloth to tie to the antenna if you break down; signal flares and devices, if possible; a first aid kit; a jug of water; and jumper cables, to name a few items.

If you break down and can't repair the problem yourself, pull to the side of the road (if possible), prop open the hood, turn on the hazard lights and tie the cloth to the antenna. Get back in the car, lock the doors and wait for a highway patrolman to pass.

If someone other than a law officer stops and offers to help, exercise caution.

Don't drink and drive. It's dangerous, and it could be expensive if you are caught. New state laws have increased penalties for DUI convictions. Among other things, if you are convicted of a third or subsequent DUI, the Department of Public Safety has the right to seize your vehicle.

Wear your seatbelts. Many deaths and injuries can be prevented with their use. In addition, it's state law for drivers and front seat passengers, and carries a $25 fine per person for violators.

Works

The important thing to remember is that the role and responsibilities of the county supervisor have changed dramatically over the years. No longer does the supervisor serve simply as a road manager. He is a member of a board of directors, dealing with county judicial issues, welfare, education and law enforcement.

It is time for the people—and the supervisors—to recognize the fact that public works are only one aspect of a supervisor's responsibility in county government.

ON PATROL

From Echo Staff Reports

FATAL ACCIDENT

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is investigating a fatal one-car accident that occurred on Hwy. 603 around 3:45 p.m. Tuesday. Carey L. Shaw, 21, of Perkinston, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, six miles north of Kiln, a Highway Patrol spokeswoman said.

According to the spokeswoman, alcohol and rain were not factors. She said Shaw was not wearing a seatbelt.

GRAND LARCENY

Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda reported the arrest of a local resident on a larceny charge.

Hoda said Joseph Maisonneuve, 29, of Rte. 3, Box 38443, Bay St. Louis, was arrested Monday morning and charged with grand larceny for the alleged theft of a handgun taken from Diamondhead Days Inn while Maisonneuve was an employee of the hotel. According to Hoda, the gun was reported stolen May 1.

Maisonneuve was incarcerated in the Hancock County jail in lieu of a $1,000 bond, and was in the jail at the time of the report Wednesday, according to Hoda.

UTTERING FORGERY

Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Tom Burleson reported the arrest of a Bay St. Louis woman on forgery charges.

Burleson said Patricia Pavolini, 20, of 8110 Jeff Davis Street, Bay St. Louis, was arrested Sunday around 5:17 p.m. and charged with two counts uttering forgery after reportedly trying to cash a check that had been stolen.

She is incarcerated in lieu of a $5,000 bond in the Hancock County jail.

Burleson is in charge of the investigation.

BURGLARY OF DWELLING

Burleson also reported the arrest of Christopher E. Robinson, 21, 18B Longwood Apartments, Long Beach on a charge of burglary.

Burleson said Robinson was charged in connection with the theft of about $1,000 in cash and checks from St. Rose Church. All the checks and the bank bag were recovered, but the cash was not, Burleson said.

He added that Robinson is in the Hancock County jail in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Detective Terry Eley is in charge of the investigation.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Trout abundant between Buccaneer and Bayou Caddy

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The turtle thinks that he has died and gone to heaven this past week. Every evening between 6 and 7, he has been able to catch between four and five keeper trout for supper. When we talk about four to five keeper trout, that is not the total number of trout caught each evening.

Each day has produced between 15 and 20 fish and a whole bunch more strikes. What is really interesting is that the catch has been about two-thirds white trout and one-third specks.

All of these fish have been caught wade fishing in the surf, along South Beach Boulevard. More specifically, between Buccaneer State Park and Bayou Caddy.

A couple of factors have contributed to the catch. The most important seems to be how far out you are willing to wade. Most of the fish we caught around the last sand bar out. This would be in water that would be about 3 to 4 feet deep. The next contributing factor is that the larger trout were caught with live mullet about two to three inches long.

The mullet were fished about 18 to 24 inches under a popping cork. A little action was applied to the cork about every five seconds. By action, I mean the line was tightened and the rod tip jerked to make the cork pop in the water.

I am told this activity makes the trout think that another trout is feeding in the area, so they better go over there and investigate if it is indeed supper time.

A couple of points of interest if you go wade fishing. Always, and I mean always, wear shoes. There could be some mean, nasty, ugly, mutilating, stinging, "hurterizing" things that would just love to hurturize (make feel bad) your feet. Shoes give you some protection.

Nextly, always shuffle your feet as you wade out to the fishin' spot. The noise your feet make shuffling along the bottom is supposed to make the stingrays run away from your tender feet.

If you think this is a good idea, then you have a healthy respect for stingrays, which is good.

Second nextly, it is always best to bring a friend along for safety. If for no other reason, you have someone to verify your otherwise unbelievable fish stories when you get back.

Third nextly, always use a stringer with a long line. This allows your catch to be a safe distance from your body in case another toothy critter decides he would like your catch for his own supper.

Last nextly, use a long shank hook so you can grab the shank of the hook and shake your fish off of the hook, without touching him, if he is too small. This will give the small fish the best chance of survival to come back another day and fight again.

Went to the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Beauty Pageant Saturday night. Now I understand why young Steve Ladner said in last week's column that "going out with girls is more fun than fishin'". Each and every one of these young ladies was certainly the personification of a queen. It is a tribute to the organizers of the Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo to have such a fine example of Mississippi young women to represent their rodeo.

The rodeo will start on July 2 and will end July 5. Registration is FREE. You also can register after you catch a fish. There are some great daily and contest prizes. The rodeo is headquartered in the Rice Pavilion in Gulfport.

But you didn't know that this is the world's largest fishing rodeo.

This week's wonderful wise words: "Try keeping only enough fish for one meal every time you go fishin'."

Fresh fried trout, or trout almandine, or trout...? ummm, turtle.

Aerobic benefits increased with hand-held weights

By using hand-held weights in their exercise routine, women can increase their fitness levels by increasing maximum oxygen consumption and heart rate, according to Dr. Walter R. Thompson, director of University of Southern Mississippi's Laboratory of Applied Physiology.

Thompson and his colleagues studied the effects of one, three and five-pound weights. "Five pounds was just too much. Three pounds was effective in increasing heart rate and oxygen consumption in females," he said, adding that one-pound weights increased only oxygen consumption.

"People who have reached a plateau" in exercise benefits "or those who are unable to withstand such a vigorous aerobic dance routine" because of orthopedic or other problems—can increase the physiological benefits of aerobic exercise by carrying small weights of about three pounds, Thompson and his colleagues maintain.

Fitness experts have long known that vigorous aerobic dance of sufficient duration improves cardiovascular endurance and respiratory performance. At the same time, it offers an entertaining social atmosphere. Thompson and his colleagues are some of the first to test the effects of adding hand-held weights to an aerobic dance routine.

He said the key to benefitting from weights during aerobic exercise is to "use the arms extensively throughout the routine" and to use the amount of weight suited to the individual.

To test the effects, 18 women ages 20-26 with aerobic dance experience were randomly assigned to one of four groups.

Group 1 did not use weights, group 2 held one-pound weights, group 3 used three-pound weights and group 4 held five-pound weights. The routine included a six-minute warm-up, 20 minutes of vigorous aerobic dance, and a five-minute cool-down.

An analysis of the subjects' heart rate, oxygen consumption, blood lactate, blood pressure and other physiological factors showed significant differences in oxygen consumption and heart rate between subjects using no weights and subjects using three-pound or five-pound weights.

However, several of the subjects couldn't control the five-pound weights, the researchers note in their unpublished study.

Using weights is not recommended for beginners, they caution. But for those who've reached a plateau in physiological benefits and wish to go beyond that intensity, the researchers recommend "a progressive increase in hand-held weights—not beyond three pounds."

Bay players make state soccer team

The Select U-16 Spirit soccer team of Jackson recently concluded a very good fall and spring season.

The team included two players from Bay St. Louis, Beau Schindler and Joe Dobson Jr. Dobson, a forward, had 66 goals for the season, including four in the regional playoffs.

The team won the U-16 Select state championship and advanced to the Southern Regionals at Greensboro, N.C., June 15-19. In regional play, they defeated North Carolina 3-2 and Louisiana 4-3, but lost to the North Texas-Dallas area team 3-2.

The team's overall record was 51 wins, six losses and two ties.

New fillet law affects fishermen

Bureau of Marine Resources officials are cautioning recreational saltwater fishermen that the new Mississippi fish fillet law applies only to Mississippi waters.

The law passed by the Legislature last session and currently in effect allows fishermen, on a fishing trip for more than 24 hours, to fillet their fish aboard their boats in Mississippi waters provided they have filed a float plan with the BMR prior to leaving on their trip.

"But this only applies to Mississippi waters," said Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries. "It's still against the law to fillet your catch before docking in Louisiana, and it is illegal to fillet most popular species of fish in federal waters."

Before the law was passed, it was illegal for fishermen to have any filleted fish in their possession in Mississippi waters.

Float plan/forms are available at the BMR main office just west of Edgewater Mall in Biloxi between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

BAYS holds meeting, election

The Bay Area Youth Soccer annual meeting and election of officers and commissioners will be Sunday, Aug. 2, 7:30 p.m. at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

Officers and commissioners serve two-year terms with offset elections each year. Three commissioners, a president, treasurer and secretary will be elected, as well as three commissioners to fill unfinished terms of one year each.

The nominating committee has submitted the following names for consideration; president—Tom Demboski; treasurer—Neil Favre; secretary—Virginia Kenny; commissioner Ricky Bourgeois, Jeff Hansell, Allen Jensen, Chip Merrigan, Allen Mestayer and Kathleen Sick. Demboski and Favre are incumbent commissioners; Kenny currently serves as secretary.

Anyone else interested in being considered for election may submit a petition with at least five BAYS members' signatures to the nominating committee chairman, Richard Flowers (467-0474) by Thursday, July 9.

All parents, coaches, anyone interested in coaching next year, referees and sponsors are encouraged to attend the annual meeting.

Any coach having equipment to turn in should notify Demboski at 467-4773.

Girls softball

Little League 11-12 state tournament hosted here July 13

Girls fast pitch softball is spreading fast in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area. The Bay Little League Girls Softball program holds two state titles and will host state and sectional tournaments in July.

The league will host the Little League (11-12 division) state tournament at McDonald Field in Bay St. Louis, beginning Monday, July 13. The top 11-12-year-olds from Central Harrison, Woolmarket, Meridian and Bay St. Louis vie for the state title.

The Big League (16-18 division) Section Tournament, represented by the states of Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas and Louisiana, will also be at McDonald Field beginning Monday, July 27.

The Bay team captured the 1992 state championship, and will represent the state in this tournament.

It all started eight years ago, when Calvin Smith and his wife, along with other interested persons, decided to provide a softball program for the girls of the area. They had three teams, were franchised under Babe Ruth, and played at Commagere Park.

Today, there are a total of 11 teams with 140 girls, ages 9-18, who hold the 1991 state title in the 11-12-year-olds division and the 1992 state title in the 16-18-year-olds division. Girls involved come from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian, Diamondhead and Kiln, and play fast pitch softball under a Little League franchise.

"This program has grown so much in the past four years," said Mary Perkins, vice president of the program, "and we are seeing the cities, the county and the local businesses finally begin to recognize the league for its efforts in providing this program for area girls."

Little League does not host state tournaments for the 9-10-year-old girls, but the Bay league decided they wanted something for this age group. Because of their efforts, this year a tournament will be held for this age group, represented by three Coast leagues.

"We are very proud of all our girls and of the efforts of the managers, coaches, league officials, parents and other interested parties who have given much time to make this program work and continue to grow," said Perkins.

The public is invited to come out the weeks of July 13 and July 27 to support the Bay girls in their efforts to win the tournaments.

More information is available by calling Mary Perkins at 467-6644 after 5 p.m., or Anne Kranke, 467-7055.

Saturday Night

Seems every day, something comes along to make our lives a little better. Fortunately, Saturday nights still come along to remind us that it's the simple things we hold dear. So, we'll keep giving life to the technology and the changes. You keep giving life to the rest.

Park

the Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks Commission. Each state park is budgeted yearly, depending on size and needs.

Davis added, "Depending on legislation appropriations, we are planning to expand the water park to include additional features, such as another slide and maybe a 'lazy river' ride."

Buccaneer supports four permanent rangers, a clerk, four permanent maintenance personnel and about 32 part-time workers.

Buccaneer State Park was named in remembrance of the colorful legends surrounding the area. What is now the park was first recorded in the late 1700s as the site where Jean Lafitte and his followers were active in smuggling and pirating along the Gulf Coast.

The French buccaneer Lafitte was said to have inhabited the old Pirate House, once located in Waveland.

The park site, also known as Jackson's Ridge, was used as a base of military operations by Andrew Jackson during the Battle of New Orleans. Jackson later returned to the area and built a house on land that is now part of Buccaneer Park.

Diamondhead camp

Project Marine Discovery earns funding for 1993

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's Project Marine Discovery is going "on the road," thanks to a $31,506 grant from the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium.

PMD, an educational program designed to foster increased awareness and understanding of Mississippi's fragile marine and aquatic environments, aims to create more knowledgeable citizens who will make responsible resource decisions in the future.

Sea Grant funding will enable the program to visit some 20 schools within a 250-mile radius of the MEC&A from August 1992 through January 1993.

A room of vision

Waveland resident and artist Henrietta Lazar creates a panoramic dream room for the 12-year-old daughter of Pass Christian resident Susan Dane. Lazar said the beach design includes not only the wildlife of the surrounding environment, but incorporates into the beach scenes the family's pets, past and present. The project has taken Lazar about three months to complete. (Photo by T. H. "Doc" Toups)

ArtWave:

The Mississippi Museum of Art/Gulf Coast is hosting ArtWave 1992 through September 17.

The sixth annual ArtWave exhibition, founded and sponsored by an alliance of Coast-based artists bearing the same name, is an opportunity for artists from Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana to display their works in a formal setting.

Of the 173 pieces submitted by 60 area artists, 70 works were chosen. The work in the show represents the best of the region.

The MMA/Gulf Coast is located at 136 George E. Ohr Street, in the Biloxi Cultural Center. The Museum is open to the public free of charge Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. For more information, call 374-5547 or 1-800-423-4971.

Flowers 'n' stuff:

Bay St. Louis artist Barbara Quigley will teach an oil workshop July 15 and 16, sponsored by the Gulf Coast Art Association in cooperation with Gulfport Parks and Recreation Department.

Still life and floral arrangements will be the subjects. The workshop will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day at the Hand-sboro Art Center at Pass Road and Cowan.

Quigley is a signature member of the Mississippi Watercolor Society, and the Rocky Mountain National and Midwest Watercolor societies. She has had one-man shows in New Orleans, Gulfport and Houston, Texas, and has been featured in exhibitions.

For more information about the oil workshop, call 452-9880.

Sculpting tales:

Barbara Ann Carver-Hunt of Sumrall presents an exhibition of Mayan-influenced mixed-media drawings and ceramic sculpture, titled "Lady-Unique-Queen-Of-The-Point: Tales of the Goddess," through July 6 at
